

Biography for Marya Fowler

Marya Fowler, Senior Education Outreach Manager for the National Wildlife Foundation. Prior to joining NWF, Marya taught for several years at the secondary level. She earned a Master's Degree in Environmental Planning/Landscape Design and worked in the field of landscape design, creating restoration management plans. As Senior Education Manager for NWF's South Central Region, Marya focuses on the advancement of NWF's K-12 school-based programming in the region, including Eco-Schools USA and Schoolyard Habitats, with an emphasis on integrating these programs at the state/school district levels and promoting environmental education to improve student academic performance. Marya also manages the National Wildlife Federation's Gardening for Wildlife Program for the South Central Region.

Marya Fowler

Senior Manager, Education Outreach

National Wildlife Federation, SCRC

512-610-7767 (O)

512-577-3322 (C)

www.ecoschoolsusa.org

www.nwf.org/southcentral

www.nwf.org

Uniting all Americans to ensure wildlife thrive in a rapidly changing world